

Anticipatory Care Planning in Care Homes – talking with relatives/friends

Anticipatory care planning is about thinking and planning ahead so that we can give each person the best possible care. If a person's health changes, it is better if we have a good plan for them.

READY	Can we talk about why planning ahead helps people get better care?
Making a plan helps us think about care for people who live in a care home and what is important to them. You may have talked with your relative or friend about this before. It is a good idea to talk about what might happen if they get unwell. This could be from a health problem or illness they have already. It might be a new illness. Sometimes a resident gets ill with coronavirus or another infection. We can make plans just in case.
EXPECT	It would help to hear what you know already, and think might happen.
People have different things they want to talk about. Please ask us about anything you want to know or are worried about. We can make a plan with you now, if you are ready.
DIAGNOSIS	There are things we know, and things we are not sure about.
People who live in care homes are often in poorer health and need help with day to day living. We are doing our best to help your relative/friend to stay well, but it is possible they may get unwell at some point. Some treatments may not work for them, or they might not want them. That's why it is important for us to talk about making a future care plan for them.
MATTERS	Knowing what is important to your relative/friend helps us to care for them.
We put this information into their care plan so we know about how they'd like to be cared for.
ACTION	Let's talk about what we can do to care for them, and things that will not help.
Let's start with their health problems and make plans for what might happen. There are also some situations it is good to plan ahead for like a sudden illness or an infection. Many people feel that staying in their familiar care home to be looked after is the best place when they are very ill and may be dying. Being comfortable is what matters to them. We have medicines in the care home to help us manage any symptoms or discomfort, if we need them. Hospital treatment may be better in a few conditions, like a hip fracture. Going to hospital has risks and benefits. Can we talk about where would be the best place of care for them? Antibiotic tablets or syrup, other medicines, and oxygen can be given in the home, if needed. Cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) is a medical treatment that does not work when a person is in poor health or dying. Either "Your relative already has a decision recorded about CPR not working/being used for them. But any other treatments that can help are still given" Or "There is no CPR decision recorded so the GP practice team will review this and discuss it with you and your relative/friend, if they are able to do that."
PLAN	Let's make a future care plan for your relative/friend.
We have the plan in the home in case we need it. The plan also goes into their GP record and a secure record used by professionals if people need urgent care called a Key Information Summary (KIS). The plan can be changed at any time. There are some situations we can think about and discuss together. If you have any questions please ask. You can talk to care home staff, and the staff from the GP practice too.

Making a plan - Anticipatory Care Planning questions for relatives/friends

Please tell us what matters most to your relative or close friend about their health.

Is there anything that you think they'd like us to know about their health and care, and how they'd like to be cared for in the future? What would they say about this if we could ask them?

We don't know exactly what will happen, but which option is closest to how you think your relative or friend would like to be cared for? We use this information to help create a care plan for them.

1. If your relative/ friend had a sudden illness (such as a stroke or a heart condition), how do you think your relative/friend would like to be cared for?

a)	Keep them comfortable, assess their health, treat any pain or other symptoms, and continue to care for them in their care home.
b)	Contact a family member/ close friend, if possible, to talk about whether or not to send them to hospital, before phoning for an urgent (999) ambulance.
c)	Send them to hospital for tests and other treatments, if this is going to be of benefit to them.

2. If your relative/ friend had a serious infection that was not improving with treatments we can give like antibiotic tablets or syrup, how do you think your relative/friend would like to be cared for?

a)	Keep them comfortable, assess their health, treat any pain or other symptoms, and continue to care for them in their care home.
b)	Contact a family member/ close friend, if possible, to talk about whether or not to send them to hospital.
c)	Send them to hospital for tests and other treatments, if this is going to be of benefit to them.

Intensive treatments may not help people who are already very frail and in poor health from underlying health problems. It is usually better to care for them in other ways.

3. If your relative/friend were not eating or drinking because they were now very unwell, how do you think your relative/ friend would like to be cared for?

a)	Keep them comfortable, assess their health, treat any pain or other symptoms, and continue to care for them in their care home.
b)	Contact a family member/close friend, if possible, to talk about whether or not to send them to hospital.
c)	Send them to hospital for tests and other treatments, if this is going to be of benefit to them.

If we think that a resident has a serious fracture (such as a hip fracture) we would usually send them to hospital for treatment, as that would be the best way to care for them.
